

Warning: Housing Scam from Exhibition Housing Management

National Council Conference (NATCON) has been made aware that a service provider called Exhibition Housing Management has contacted a number of individuals who are attending NATCON '15, quoting the event, to offer hotel reservation services.

Please note that Exhibition Housing Management does not represent National Council, nor have we authorized them to use our names or trademarks on information they send out to exhibitors. While we do not know enough about this third party's intent, we recommend you reserve rooms with hotels listed on the conference web site.

The authorized vendors of the conference are as follows:

- TMI (registration)
- J&J Exhibitors (exhibit hall management)

Please be aware of the following:

- No one should contact you directly to book your hotel room or offer you a "special discounted conference rate" or "can save you $30.00 off your room rate." If you receive one of these calls or emails, it is a scam. They are not associates of National Council.
- If you receive a phone call from someone wanting to speak to the "tradeshow coordinator or the person who is handling National Council Conference or NATCON that your company is attending in April," it is a scam and they are not affiliated with National Council.
- If someone emails you claiming to be from any exhibitor department, and the email is not from a thenationalcouncil.org email address, do not share any information with them. The company is not affiliated with Council and it is a scam.

If you happen to be contacted by any other company not authorized please let me know.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me.

Danny Linden

DannyL@thenationalcouncil.org

202-684-3729