Over 183,000 people have died from overdoses related to prescription opioids from 1999-2015.

Approximately 83% of opioid-induced fatalities are unintentional/accidental.

33,000 people died from an overdose involving an opioid in 2015.

33,000 people died from an overdose involving an opioid in 2015.

~ 2.5 times

Risk of fatal overdose in children under 10 is multiplied ~ 2.5 times when an opioid is in their home.

70%

Over 70% of opioids are not stored safely out of the reach of children.

65%

In a large scale survey, 65% of opioids received for non-medical use were provided by a friend or relative.

Each day, more than 1,000 people are treated in the Emergency Department for misusing prescription opioids.

The national average EMS response time (911) is 9.4 minutes.

Risk of fatal overdose in children under 10 is multiplied ~ 2.5 times when an opioid is in their home.

70%

Over 70% of opioids are not stored safely out of the reach of children.

65%

In a large scale survey, 65% of opioids received for non-medical use were provided by a friend or relative.

Each day, more than 1,000 people are treated in the Emergency Department for misusing prescription opioids.

The national average EMS response time (911) is 9.4 minutes.

Approximately 77% of opioid overdose deaths were experienced at home or in a non-clinical setting; often witnessed by a close friend, partner or family member.