Session Norms

Speak from the “I” perspective
Listen to understand, not to respond
Take space, give space
Uphold confidentiality
We all make mistakes & are learning
Approach discomfort with curiosity
Take care of yourself

We have been socialized to believe that it is not polite to talk about oppression, race and racism (and other –isms) – hearing about & talking about these things may bring up feelings of discomfort.

We ask ourselves and participants to be mindful of assumptions, and biases during this presentation.

We ask ourselves and participants to be aware of multiple identities, backgrounds and perspectives in our virtual space.

Case Discussion
We are starting to see an increase in cases that are not your run of the mill cases for West Texas. Providing culturally responsive services is not a challenge unique to West Texas but we are highly under resourced for these particular challenges. For example, one Psychiatrist noted the case of a 15-year-old transgender male living in a small rural community with little to no mental health resources to begin with. It is at least an hour and a half drive to receive services. The school is not equipped to provide gender-based care for these students. Additionally, mom is experiencing domestic violence in the home. Although the child is safe for the moment, mom is not safe and there are no shelters available. The family began homeschooling due to the poor school and community climate for transgender care. In speaking with our Clinical Child Psychologist, West Texas is often deeply enriched in religious and spiritual values, resulting in conflict between parental belief systems and children’s beliefs. We are seeing a significant increase in cases where gender identity and sexual orientation are at the root of these conflicts. These religious values and beliefs about gender-based care are having a detrimental impact on mental health across the region.

Main Question(s) from the presenter:
How are other organizations are addressing geographical culture norms that impact mental health care and workforce shortages? With decreased resources comes a decreased workforce. When future practitioners see mental health shortage areas, there is an automatic sense that they will be experiencing isolation, resulting in a decreased desire to come to West Texas.

Next Session (Session 5) Wed, April 20th, 11:30am-1pm ET

Topic: Innovative approaches to improving workforce capacity and wellbeing for rural health providers
Resources (1 of 4)

https://ssir.org/articles/entry/the_reality_underneath_the_buzz_of_partnerships  This resource is provided by the Stanford Innovative Review entitled The Reality Underneath the Buzz of Partnerships that describes the realities of forming and sustaining partnerships. It is practical and helpful in examining partnerships.

https://hbr.org/2007/11/eight-ways-to-build-collaborative-teams  Harvard Business Review provides a document entitled Eight Ways to Build Collaborative Teams by L. Gratton and T. Erickson that summarized a review of their research on what makes successful teams with a focus on leadership.

https://www.wallacefoundation.org/knowledge-center/Documents/Partnership-Principles-for-a-Sustainable-Human-Services-System.pdf  Sponsored by the Wallace Foundation this document entitled Fair and Equitable: Partnership Principles to a Sustainable Human Service System. It has a focus on Illinois with some guiding principles that are helpful across human service systems.

https://www.cdc.gov/workplacehealthpromotion/tools-resources/pdfs/issue-brief-no-3-community-partnerships-03062013.pdf  A CDC resource entitled the Value of Community Partnership (Brief 3) that provides content on readiness to engage in partnerships with exemplars. The focus is on addressing chronic diseases.

https://attcnetwork.org/sites/default/files/2020-07/SUD-Service-Report.pdf  This is a Mountain Plains Addiction Technology Transfer Center resource entitled SUD Collaborations that Work: Findings from Region 8 Providers. It provides principles to sustain and develop partnerships/collaborations from exemplars nominated by the State SSAs in Region 8.
Resources (2 of 4)

https://ncsacw.acf.hhs.gov/files/understanding-treatment-508.pdf This product is developed by the National Center on Substance Abuse and Child Welfare entitled Understanding Substance Use Disorder Treatment: A Resource Guide for Professional Referring to Treatment. It focuses on assessments in referral processes that guide partnerships with child welfare agencies. Strong referral processes support future and current partnerships.

https://www.careemergencytoolkit.org/partnership/ This is CARE toolkit entitled Partnerships. It provides, for example, a Best Practices for Successful Partnerships that is a one-page handout for do and don’t in forming partnerships. Access to the product and content in the product is seamless. The focus is disaster response but is applicable for a host of situations.

https://www.thenationalcouncil.org/search/?keywords=partnerships The National Council for Mental Wellbeing has offered recent office hours and events on partnerships.
